When Jones, Kuriloff & Sargent, LLC opened in 2013, no one could have anticipated the changes we would see by 2020. We have grown our business, grown our staff, grown our physical space...and now we're considered an "essential service" in the global coronavirus pandemic!

There are phones ringing and emails flying constantly. New this year is the flurry of Zoom meetings to accommodate clients who need to complete or update their estate planning documents. We are signing legal documents outdoors and finding ways to meet the increasing demands. We specialize in writing wills, trusts and powers of attorney, as well as managing all of the related fields of estate planning - real estate transfers, business formations, probate estates and elder law.

Please don't forget to complete your Maine Advance Health Care Directive if you don't have one already! (There is a free copy on our website.)

We are honored that our clients refer others to us, and we are thrilled to be the attorneys you call in a pandemic.
